Experience Focused on What the Market Needs

Physician groups have undergone unprecedented changes over the past several years. Many smaller and private practices have disappeared, while mid- to large-sized ones are facing mergers and acquisitions by hospitals. The groups still in practice are facing the potential for audits and board actions while navigating the changing realities of care delivery models and reform/regulatory challenges. Credentialing and privileging issues also arise when the need for a hospital affiliation emerges.

Our experienced underwriting team understands physician groups' unique challenges. With an end-to-end approach highlighted by our dedicated risk management and claims capabilities, we specialize in handling physician group needs.
