

Risk Management Resources

The role of the healthcare risk manager is evolving. Expanding technology, shifting care models, increasing medical complexity, higher consumer expectations and greater regulatory scrutiny confirm the need for an effective enterprise risk management program to help manage risk and liability exposure. For many organizations, the challenges in developing a risk management program can include knowledgebase, skill set and resources.

At OneBeacon Healthcare Group®, we strive to understand each organization's risk management resources and needs. Our team of in-house and external industry-leading risk management professionals have decades of experience. We invite you to talk with us about your challenges and we'll assist you with possible strategies and solutions, tailored to your needs.

Consultative Services

Policyholders have access to specialty-focused and experienced healthcare professionals to assist with risk management questions, issues and research.

AboutRisk® Learning Healthcare Risk Management Training Course

A unique web-based training course that provides the information necessary to assist new and less experienced risk professionals in understanding the fundamental skills, goals, elements and responsibilities needed for an effective risk management program in any healthcare setting. The course has dedicated faculty support to enhance the learning experience.

AboutRisk Learning Education

Interactive, live webinars and pre-recorded learning modules are presented monthly. Suites of pre-recorded learning modules for use with staff and clinicians in specific settings are also available. Examples include:

- Senior Housing
- Federally Qualified Health Centers
- Continuing education credits are available for some offerings.

Exclusive Website

A policyholders-only risk management website with a wide variety of resources that is easily accessible. Any healthcare policyholder is welcome to register.

Enewsletters and Publications

"E-Risk Tips" sent to policyholders highlighting FAQs, emerging risks and new resources available, along with possible strategies on how to effectively address risk exposures. And, The Rozovsky Group's monthly Dialogues in Healthcare and TRG Newsletter are included at no additional cost.

Tools and Guides

Easy-to-read, case study-based "pocket" risk management guides—such as our physician office/ambulatory practice guide—for use by leadership and clinicians, as well as other tools to help assess and address risk exposures.
